SUMMARY

15+ years making complex things coherent: experiences that span many brands and channels, new products, and the design organizations that build them. Leads teams and practices, and still does the work.

- Led the UX team behind PA.gov, consolidating 62 websites across 43 state agencies into one front door; accessibility score from 37% to 95%
- Rebuilt hiring and promotion criteria for a 35-person design organization, used to hire its senior managers
- Brought generative AI into product design and the team's process, cutting 1-2 days per sprint review

EXPERIENCE

Publicis Sapient (formerly Crown Partners and Razorfish) April 2014 - September 2026

Associate Creative Director, Experience | June 2017 - September 2026

Led experience strategy and design inside product teams at enterprise and Fortune 500 companies, in Agile delivery. Led cross-functional project teams of up to 10, including designers, product owners, engineers, and offshore partners in India, and managed senior, mid-level, and junior designers directly: performance reviews, hiring for permanent and contract roles, a promotion recommendation, and design staffing for new programs.

- Led UX for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania's consolidation of 62 websites across 43 agencies into one resident-facing site, leading a UX team of four, including another associate creative director, overseeing its design system, and working directly with the governor's digital team leads; ~9M visits and 72M page views in December 2024, and the Level Access accessibility score went from 37% to 95%
- Got 43 agencies with no shared reporting line to adopt one information architecture, through IA workshops with each and a content authoring guidelines site with AEM training
- Raised the UX practice maturity of a 35-person design organization at Grupo Coppel as a founding member of its Digital Center of Excellence: rewrote most job descriptions around quality and mentoring, set the criteria used to hire senior managers, and led the workshop behind its design principles; Coppel offered a direct role
- Proposed a new operating model at Grupo Coppel after finding no one owned the customer experience across six delivery pods: channel teams co-led by product and design, with mobile standards and a measurement framework, validated with product and engineering first
- Brought generative AI into product work and the team's process: led up to three designers on ABC Supply's AI home exterior visualizer, covering the contractor-to-homeowner flow from project setup to ordering, with concept tests that backed the direction; introduced Figma Make prototyping, cutting 1-2 days per sprint review
- Designed complex services and flows: service blueprints for GameStop's loyalty program and same-day delivery, banker-facing client onboarding, internal approvals, and a Figma component library that engineering coded from for Nuveen, and vehicle checkout and order tracking for Ford

Senior UX Lead | April 2014 - June 2017

- Brought 30+ Hubbell subsidiary brands under one structure: led up to three designers creating a shared design system and taxonomy, and ran workshops with 30+ stakeholders, including senior VPs, to agree on one categorization, the groundwork for the 2017 "One Hubbell" site
- Designed complex commerce and banking experiences: IA, wireframes, and prototypes through launch for a 2M+ item B2B parts catalog on SAP Hybris for Aviall, a Boeing company, plus consumer account onboarding and overdraft handling for MUFG Union Bank

Other clients: Home Depot, JCPenney, Kate Spade, Polaris, Discount Tire, United Technologies, Amway, Intel

Amplifi Commerce

May 2010 - April 2014

Leader, User Experience Architect | January 2012 - April 2014

Senior Manager, Interaction Designer | May 2010 - January 2012

- Led UX on many retail and healthcare projects: eCommerce maturity assessments, cross-channel journeys, IA, and interaction models
- Set the standards for Amplifi's UX practice in heuristic evaluation (used in 20+ evaluations) and design documentation, including annotated wireframes and style guides; was the team's go-to for accessibility

Clients: Express, Michael Kors, Movado, Rooms To Go, Big 5 Sporting Goods, Animas (a Johnson & Johnson company), Novation

Nokia

May 2008 - May 2010

User Experience Specialist, Design

- Designed the UX architecture for Ovi Services, including privacy-compliance patterns for international markets

Earlier Experience

Handango, Creative Director & Senior UX Design Lead

- Joined as the first employee and grew with the company to ~150 people and up to $42M in annual sales; built a five-person design team and sat on the executive team that set brand direction, with agency partners, through two rebrands
- Led UX for a mobile marketplace with 1.2M+ monthly visitors, where a device-selection feature tripled conversion and cut returns 60% by showing buyers only software their phone could run
- Designed developer content-management and ingestion tools, and a white-label storefront that partner brands built into their own sites
